Since becoming a household name on "Curb," Susie has branched out into numerous other TV projects including guest hosting ABC's "The View," taping stand-up specials for HBO, and landing starring turns on CBS's "Blue Bloods," CBS Hallmark Hall of Fame movie "Loving Leah," and the 2009 feature "Cop Out" with Tracy Morgan and Bruce Willis.

Susie currently tours the US and Europe with her stand-up comedy act and in 2009 released her first book "What Would Susie Say - Bullshit Wisdom About Love, Life and Comedy" published by Simon & Schuster. Susie most recently appeared on Season 3 of "Broad City" for Comedy Central and TruTV's "Those who Can't."
